The closest prior art, Microsoft Office 2000 and Microsoft Windows Version 4.0 teaches a substantial amount of the claimed matters, Microsoft Office 2000 and Microsoft Windows Version 4.0, when combined, shows a similar system which also displays a plurality of graphical icons corresponding to running applications and receiving a mouse click event to select of the plurality of graphical icons for displaying the running application corresponding to the selected icon. However, the prior art still fail to anticipate or render the above underlined limitations obvious.
